A PRAYER FOR PAM STAPLETON

I said a prayer for you today, but then that is nothing new.
I said one for you yesterday,
and the day before that too.

I asked the Lord to be close by,
in case you needed him.
I said you wouldn't ask for much,
just to have good health.

He said he'd hope you'd understand,
if at times he was not there.
It is not that he's forgotten you,
but someone needed him more elsewhere.

In his eyes You are so Special,
one of his chosen few,
one of his strong dear children, he gives his burden to.

How proud he must be of you,
when he looks down upon this earth,
for he could not have picked one better,
to do his special work.

You bring happiness and sunshine to everyone you meet.
And you teach us all a lesson, in overcoming problems and defeat.

So remember, we're all there with you,
when things seem more than you can bear.
For you made our lives much richer,
just knowing you were here.

Praise for NDSS skiers

Sir:

Recently I spent several days at a youth hostel at Whistler mountain.

There were a group of your local NDSS high school teenagers enjoying a short ski holiday in residence there as well.

In spite of all the terrible things you media people would have us believe about young people today, I would like to say how much I enjoyed their company. I have never met a nicer, politer, mannerly and well disciplined group of youngsters.

They are a credit to their school and to their community. Yours etc.

Editor's Note: Take a bow those NDSS young skiers. You've earned it.

Tai chi is the most popular Kung Fu art in the Orient. This is the exercise level of Kung Fu, and does not involve contact or attack. All the classic attack/defence moves are slowed down to develop strength, flexibility and control. In addition to its value as an exercise, the strict form of tai chi makes it a form of moving meditation which calms the mind and increases powers of concentration.

PAM WINKELMANS

Pam's pet peeve is people who like to breakdance and all Michael Jackson worshippers. Her most embarrassing moment at NDSS was walking into a final exam in Marketing after spending lunch time at Taco Time. Her most eventful moment was during the Summer of '84 with TC, TB and VH in Vancouver and the weekend in Victoria with VH. Pam plans to move to Vancouver, makes loads of money and live in a penthouse - also to quit Mac Land forever. She admires RW. Pam wishes that every day could be Saturday with no work, no school - just a lot of good parties.

BRAD WOOD

Brad's pet peeves are Mr. Douglas' English class and Mods. His most embarrassing moment was riding in Steve M's VW past the girls' PE class. He plans to have the wildest 2602. Brad plans to join the UIC Drinking Team and leave Nanaimo.

LEE WORDEN

Lee's pet peeve is being poor. His most embarrassing moment at NDSS was having lunches thrown at him during the Air Band Contest. His wildest dream is to graduate or be rich and famous (or vice versa). His most eventful moment was finding out he didn't have to take math any more. He plans to get married, have 2.5 children, a dog, a cat, 2 cars in the garage, a big fire going in the fireplace and cheese sandwiches sitting on the table. Lee admires Pete, Keef and Eddie (C).

GORDON WYNDLOW

Gordon's pet peeves are people who walk slowly in the halls and then stop to chat - and sharing a locker with his sister second semester. His most embarrassing moment was watching Mr. Sanborn enter class with a box which he announced was heavy and Gord saying, "Yah, I guess that's a lot of weight to carry around." His wildest dream would be to ski Hawaii. His most eventful moment - being in the same Western Civ class with PE - what a joke! Gordon hopes to become filthy rich but will probably end up as the farmer's son that he is. Peter PR doesn't pay.

TERRY YOACHIM

Terri's pet peeve is dirty silly putty (thanks PC), candy canes prepared by TT and hiking boots. Wiping out in granny boots twice in one day was pretty embarrassing. Terri plans to own a jelly bean factory (tangerine jb's are the greatest). Her most eventful moment was passing BI 11 with Laurie B and the invention of "parking" with NY. She plans to move to the US and become an orthodontist. She admires Eric (CPD).

DEBBIE ZANELLA

Deb's pet peeves are First Class and Uncoordinated people (LL and JJ). Most embarrassing moment was receiving a birthday present and being laughed at by DL. Her wildest dream would be picking up TS and DL in her Ferrari and cruising to California. Her future plan is to find a lost friend. Debbie admires people who pass Algebra 11. "Thanks to DL, TS, LL, NG and ST for the good times - they won't be forgotten. Only one more year Sigg. Take it easy!"

NICKIE ZOLOB

Nickie's pet peeves are Monday mornings, hangovers and anything too hard to understand. Her most embarrassing moment was having to admit that she had higher "absents" than percentages in many classes. She can't reveal her wildest dream. Nickie plans to be rich and to live life in the fast lane. LA here I come. She admires Mick Jagger. To JB: See you in the money!

SHE'S LOSING IT

She admits that though she used to be a dreamer her dreams have come and gone and things have still turned out the same.

The worn walls around her life are slowly fraying;
though she wants to be a woman,
she can't bear to stop the game

so she clutches her existence as a child knowing, once she learns to run, she will never walk again.

someone told her she could paint - while she was dancing.
She hung up her dancing shoes but found that she'd been led astray.

She had led the race
while everyone was tiring, but as she looked behind
she felt she might have taken the wrong way.
Now
she can't seem to find a smile;
It's hard to cry.
The things she used to love block up the way of her escape - she's losing it.

ANATOMY OF THE MALE MIND

You worship yourself more than God Himself
And believe you're His gift to women.
But underneath your flawless wrapper
Lies the perfect moron.

SPECIAL WORDS

HEY! Is there anybody out there?
Sometimes you think there's not.
Too often there isn't time to talk.
You need someone who's going to be there,
To hold you up,
And together.
You need to say special words,
But they don't come out until it's too late.
They're dying and there's nothing you can do,
But regret the things you never said or did.

DESTINATION UNKNOWN

Left
Is a note
She hopes is enough,

Closets
Whisper,
"It's time."

At dawn
She emerges, almost frightened
by the emptiness;

Trees sigh
In the cool breeze,
The search begins
Independence:
The need to be free.

She will not discover Beauty in all But...
She will experience;

The journey, endless Destination, unknown.

ENERGETIC DISASSEMBLY

In the morning mist the paling moon runs from the newly rising sun.

The sun peers over the mountain, feels it's safe and arises.

The world awakens only to be destroyed seconds later by man's own creation.

LOVE

Love, Shines its own sun rains its own rain laughs its own fun cries its own pain sheds its own tears runs its own race screams its own fears keeps its own pace
Love is what you make of it.

THE IMMORTAL RACE

The most decrepit race exists today
An antique among prehistoric surroundings,
Thrives in its ancient existence.
Descendants remain as frozen fossils,
Atavistic fragments of an ageless world.
Aegis forces have unsuccessfully strived
To bring its downfall.
Primordial as the human animal has become,
He is the wizened predator
Who is prey only to his own kind.

ESCAPE

I wish I were on top of a hill
 Looking into a valley.
 It would be Spring
 And sweet, new grass
 Would surround me.
 The valley would slope gently down
 To a small river that would Meander back and forth-
 Then back again.
 Flowers would be in bloom,
 Pink,
 Yellow
 And - mauve.
 Perhaps there'd be a maple tree with Soft green leaves stretching,
 On forever.

 The birds would be twttering-as most Birds do in Springtime-
 I'd lie there with my hands
 Behind my head, Smiling.

THE PERSONAL DIVORCE VICTIMS

I am a faded curtain
 A barrier to light,
 Unable to open,
 Afraid of sight;

 Scars that will not wash
 Tears I cannot dry,
 Dreams are long forgotten,
 Left is the darkened sky;

 My seams are old and worn Threads that do not change,
 Fibre with no spirit,
 Pleats that have no flame;

 Surrounded in the memories
 Of what God planned for me,
 Fearful of my feelings,
 And what the world may see;

UNCAST...

A passionate touch,
 distant and wild.
 A thought for a moment,
 still just a child.

Trusting, maybe.....becoming a friend.
 Holding, caring....to unintentional end.

At the time, an endless price

 When then they have gone don't think twice.

Time is the essence....
 inhale.... then within Exhaust, it rolls on leaving time only within
 So if at first love doesn't last.

There lies love's shadow

Uncast.....

THE GREAT PIZZA PIGOUT

The 67 "pigs" gathered on March 11 at Pizza Hut for the first Pizza Pigout ever. It was an evening full of fun and probably later on... indigestion.

Pizza Hut was closed to the public, so students were able to listen to popular music and move around socializing with their friends.

"It's great... good pizza, good company but... where's the beer," stated Gary Green. "It's unbelievable," added Leslie Cox.

Pizza eating contests went on between individual students and teams of eight. When last asked, Lincoln Boomers had eaten 13 pieces of pizza and said, "I can still go for more. This is a lot of fun and worth the money. I'd do it again."

Pizza Hut ended up making over 60 large pizzas and 10 minis.

Supervisors, cooks, waitresses and the manager of Pizza Hut also commented that the NDSS students were very nice and although hectic, it was still a lot of fun.
